MR. WHEELER AND THE CAPTAIN OF THE STEAMSHIP—THE LOSSES OF THE COSTA RICANS IN THEIR RETREAT—THE ORIGINAL AMERICAN LEAGUE AGAINST NICARAGUA—WHY IT WAS NOT CARRIED OUT—THEIR PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION—NEWS OF THE RECOGNITION OF PADRE VIJIL—WALKER'S MOVEMENTS—MILITARY INTELLIGENCE—NICARAGUA SAFE FROM ANOTHER INVASION.

The Virgin Bay correspondent of the New-Orleans Picayune, writing on the 30th of May, says:

Mr. WHEELER, the American Minister, came up from Greytown on the last steamer, having gone down for the double purpose of sending his family to the States and of aiding Capt. TABLEMAN, of the British Sloop-of-War, in remonstrating with the Commandant of the Department, concerning the claims of his vice-consul, Mr. HOWARD, upon the property of the Transit, on his previous trip. Capt. TABLEMAN stated that he had ordered the Cyclops at the request of the people of Greytown, who were beginning to perceive many obstacles to prevent their leaving there for the fourth more advantageous point on the Atlantic coast. Would Mr. WHEELER object to be the bearer of a letter filled with armed men to the mouth of the river, which is barely two miles from Greytown? The captain insisted on a memorial, and then said he feared the passengers might get off on the river-steamer before he could receive the Official answer. Mr. WHEELER declined to comply with the request

The TIMES FOR CALIFORNIA will be issued To-morrow Morning, in season to mail by the U. S. Mail steamship Illinois. Mail closes at 1 P. M.

This paper contains complete Summaries of Foreign and Domestic Intelligence, received since the sailing of the last steamer for California; Proceedings in Congress; Reports of all Public Meetings, Political Conventions, &c.; Commercial Affairs; full lists of Marriages and Deaths; Editorial Articles on Current Topics, and a great amount of Miscellaneous Matter.

PRICE—In wrappers ready for mailing, 6 cents per copy. Agents will please send in their orders as early as possible.

THE TIMES FOR EUROPE.

We publish To-MORROW MORNING, at 9 o'clock, an edition prepared expressly for the United States Mail steamship Atlantic, which will leave this port for Liverpool at 12 o'clock on Saturday. The TIMES FOR EUROPE will contain the latest news received by telegraph and mail up to the hour of publication. Copies can be had in wrappers at the counter. Price six cents each.

☞ No morning paper will be issued from this office to-morrow. We shall, however, publish an edition at 12 M., containing the latest news to the hour of publication, together with a full account of this day's celebration and festivities.

☞ The Senate was in session the whole of Wednesday night, and until 3 o'clock on Thursday morning, occupied in the debate on DOUGLAS' Kansas bill. A great variety of amendments were acted upon, and the bill was finally passed by a vote of 33 to 12. At noon the President pro tem. again took the Chair, but no other Senator was present, and after announcing the signing of several enrolled bills, he declared the Senate adjourned to Monday. In the House, Mr. CAMPBELL said he intended to call up the report of the Select Committee on the Brooks assault on Tuesday, and that on Wednesday he would move the previous question. Mr. BANGLEY's motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill to admit Kansas with the Topeka Constitution was rejected, was then adopted by a vote of 101 yeas to 99 nays, and the bill was then passed by a vote 100 to 97. The yeas and nays will be found in our report of the proceedings elsewhere. An ineffectual effort was made to have an evening session, and the House adjourned to Monday.

☞ We publish this morning some interesting news from Europe, received by the Hermann and by the Canada's mails. We have given in full the recent Parliamentary debates on the Enlistment and Central American questions. They show conclusively that a pacific solution to our difficulties with Great Britain may be confidently expected. There can be but little doubt that Mr. MASON's last dispatches have tended greatly to produce this result, as well as the altered tone to be remarked in the London Press. The Times, especially, it will be noticed, has turned completely round, so as to fall in with public opinion, and now censures Mr. CRAMPTON as strongly as it heretofore defended his conduct.

Independence Day.

Eighty years ago this blessed morning the heroic fathers of our nation proclaimed the Independence of the American people in words which will be remembered and repeated on each return of the glorious day, while human speech endures. Eighty years ago, but still our Independence is incomplete. We are independent of all foreign powers, and may boldly snap our fingers at the united sovereignty of the Old World; but we have nurtured a despotism within our own boundary which has now, for the first time, been resolutely attacked, and before another return of the day our Independence may be complete. A little boasting may be pardoned in the anniversary of the natal day of our national existence; but we need not indulge in it here. Notwithstanding all the domestic dissensions which attend our Presidential elections, and which never seemed more numerous and malignant than now, we believe that the Union was never less in danger of disruption, nor the country as large in a more prosperous and happy condition. Our garners are all full and overflowing; we are at peace with all the world; the whole country is free from pestilential diseases; God has prospered us above all the nations of the earth, and, as a united and happy people, we can all join to-day in celebrating the return of that joyous Anniversary which will ever be hailed by the descendants of our Revolutionary Sires as the Glorious Fourth.

"High Treason" in Kansas.

We publish this morning, together with some interesting Kansas letters, a faithful report of the examination of the Free-State prisoners at Lecompton, charged with the crime of treason against the United States. The proceedings in a case so novel—carried on in the name of [illegible] surprise. At first sight the reader may imagine that the whole story is an absurd farce; but a farce it is not. The report of this examination, it will be observed, is authenticated and verified from beginning to end by the Clerk of the Court. All that is here recorded actually occurred. The indictment was originally laid against seven individuals conspicuous among those who have endeavored to make Kansas a Free State. For this crime they were arrested near Osawatomie, and, like a gang of galley slaves, they were chained two and two together and driven from thence to Tecumseh—a distance of sixty-five miles—where they have undergone a barbarous imprisonment and still more barbarous semblance of trial for treason. One of the prisoners, JOHN BROWN—unable to bear up against this misfortune—was driven mad by the treatment he received. The reader will perceive that the evidence adduced on this curious trial is precisely the same against all the prisoners; and yet, strange to say, three have been convicted while five have been unconditionally released. What further proceedings will be taken in regard to those who have been sent back to prison remains to be seen, but the fact that this mock trial has actually taken place is of itself an outrage, under color of law, which, in the absence of the positive proof we now produce, few would believe.

The New Kansas Dodge.

Senator DOUGLAS falters in the work he has undertaken. He quails before the popular condemnation of his Kansas policy. His proud proclamation that he would "subdue" the North and compel its acquiescence in the principle of the Nebraska bill, has been falsified,—and Senator DOUGLAS himself has been compelled to make a show of modifying his policy for the purpose of appeasing the popular indignation which threatens to sweep his party from power. In another column will be found the new bill which he reported on the 30th, and which was forced through the Senate on the morning of the 3d inst. On its face, and to all appearances, it is a complete abandonment of the doctrine of popular sovereignty, and a direct reversal of the policy of the Administration in regard to Kansas;—and although these appearances are utterly deceptive, they prove the extent to which DOUGLAS and his fellow conspirators have been startled and alarmed by the developments of public sentiment within the last ten days.

The principle of Popular Sovereignty, as it has been expounded by DOUGLAS, demands that the people of Kansas should be left perfectly free to manage their own affairs. The Kansas bill pretended to confer upon the inhabitants the right thus to regulate their own concerns. The Legislature of the Territory was to prescribe the time, place and manner of holding elections;—to provide for an enumeration of the inhabitants;—to make all laws concerning property;—and generally to exercise all the rights and powers vested in State Governments. This was proclaimed to be the fundamental principle of the Kansas bill;—and no extremity of disorder or commotion was to be allowed to interfere with its enforcement. President PIERCE, in his special message, declared his determination to enforce the laws of the Kansas Legislature;—and his proclamation menaced the people with the power of the Federal army as a means of compelling obedience. Thus far the Administration has taken this stand and maintained it. The Federal Judiciary in the Territory has indicted men for treason, for having refused obedience. Scores of the best citizens of Kansas now lie in prison under such a charge. Federal Judges have denounced free presses, and hotels owned by Free-State men, as nuisances;—and mobs, acting under Federal sanction, have destroyed them both. All this has been done in pursuance of the purpose to enforce the laws of Kansas, and thus maintain the principle of Popular Sovereignty.

All this Senator DOUGLAS now abandons. He has brought in a bill declaring null and void sundry enactments of this Kansas legislature. He has stripped the Kansas authorities of the right to regulate their own affairs, and proposes another tribunal, which shall do all this for them. There could not be a more complete repudiation of the Squatter Sovereignty doctrine than is embodied in his new bill.

But his devotion to Slavery and his determination to promote its extension into Kansas, have not abated a single jot. Both are conspicuous in this very act. Although he repudiates the sovereignty of the people of Kansas,—although he strips them of the power to regulate their own affairs,—he is equally careful to deny it to Congress, where it properly belongs. He proposes to vest THE PRESIDENT AND SENATE with substantial power over the whole matter. He proposes that the President shall, with the consent of the Senate, appoint a COMMISSION OF FIVE PERSONS, in a majority of whom shall be vested complete and absolute authority over the Territory. We hear rumors from Washington that assurances have been whispered that this Commission shall be fairly constituted,—that all political parties shall be represented upon it. The man who trusts to such assurances is a political idiot. The whole scheme is intended to deceive. Its precise scope and purpose is to place in the hands of President PIERCE complete authority over Kansas;—and that man must be a fool who does not know that at the bottom of all this lies the determination TO MAKE KANSAS A SLAVE STATE. This is the grand end at which the whole Kansas conspiracy has been directed. It was for this and this alone that the Missouri Compromise was repealed;—that Kansas was thrown open to Slavery;—that secret lodges were formed in the Slave States to carry Slavery into the Territory;—that the Border Ruffians invaded it and took possession of the polls;—that the Slave laws were extended over it;—that Lawrence was besieged, her houses burned and her free press destroyed;—that all Free-State men have been imprisoned or driven out of the Territory;—and thus for the last six months the whole region has been ravaged by ruffianly Pro-Slavery hordes. And is it supposable that Senators DOUGLAS and PEARCE, the ringleaders of this grand Pro-Slavery conspiracy,—are now to abandon the object they have had in view from the beginning, or to do anything which would leave its consummation doubtful? This bill, it must be remembered, is TOOMBS' bill. It has been concocted by the leaders in the Kansas Conspiracy,—under the personal supervision of ATCHISON, STRINGFELLOW & Co. They know perfectly well what its effect would be;—and they never would have brought it forward unless they had known, in the first place, that it was necessary to appease and divert the public indignation,—and in the next place, that this scheme would answer their purpose just as well as any other.

The bill proposes that the President and Senate shall appoint FIVE Commissioners, a majority, (or three) of whom shall have entire control over the election of delegates in Kansas to form a State Constitution. It proposes that, under their direction, and under regulations to be issued by the Secretary of the Interior, all the citizens of Kansas shall record their names on the 4th of July, (to-day,)—and that, in November, these men and no others shall be allowed to vote. Now, DOUGLAS, TOOMBS & Co. know perfectly well that more than half the Free-State men of Kansas have been driven out by violence, and cannot possibly be there to register their names. They know that all their leaders are either in prison or in exile, and that indictments for treason are pending against them. They know that the Territory is full of Missouri men, who have taken possession of it and will be on hand to record their names. They know that the whole machinery of Government in Kansas,—legislative, executive and judicial,—is in the hands of the Pro-Slavery men; and that they will have, therefore, an overwhelming advantage in such an election as they propose. And it is this conviction which has led them to propose it. Nothing but the most absolute certainty that this bill will aid them in their grand purpose,—to make Kansas a Slave State,—would ever have induced them to bring it forward.

We trust the House of Representatives will arrest a measure so fatal to Freedom in Kansas as this bill will prove to be. If the Government of Kansas is to be put in Commission, LET THAT COMMISSION BE NAMED IN THE BILL. To clothe the President with any such authority is a monstrous departure from Republican principles, which nothing but the domineering spirit of Slavery could ever have forced upon the representatives of freemen.

Democracy in England.

The peaceful termination of the difficulties between the United States and Great Britain has demonstrated that there exists a power in England, higher than that of the crown, able to impart life to that mummyized anomaly, the House of Peers, as subtle and more straightforward than the six-penny press, and before which even the dogged characteristics of a Palmerston Ministry have been compelled to bow the knee, without making the slightest sign of resistance. That power is the will of the nation—the grumbling, but unmistakable voice of that intangible incarnation, Mr. John Bull, roused to wrath at the prospect of seeing his commerce checked, his colonies overrun, and his pockets emptied. However little esteem English Governments may deserve, in reviewing the various phases of their history, John Bull is a very different being from his representatives. He can be led by the nose, it is true, that is, if his pride and purse—particularly the latter—are properly catered to; he is neither modest nor magnanimous; alternates, in his dealings, between arrogant boasting and sickly peevishness; and is altogether as crotchetty, testy an animal as any of the horned family to which his name testifies his affinities. Nevertheless, wo to John Bull's keepers, skillful as they may be, if they fail to conform themselves to each one of the mass of apparently inexplicable contradictions which create the aggregate of his character. OVID tells of no metamorphose more sudden than that with which the bull can be changed into a lion, whose British roar has even less charm for those who have him in charge, than for enemies in the distance.

It can scarcely be doubted that, but for the decidedly signified veto of the British people, the Enlistment question would not have terminated so peacefully, and Central American imbroglios might still prepare the way for a discordant issue to the controversies pending between the two countries. Lord PALMERSTON's audacity, and the more tortuous malice of Lord CLARENDON, would have found full vent against the United States—if they had only dared. Not that they were held back by any dread of such injury as we could have inflicted upon them. The vast naval preponderance of Great Britain is a text which needs no commentary, and the fiery old Premier would have reveled in the sport of fleshing the teeth of his dogs of war—returned hungry from the Baltic—in such prey as our unarmed cruisers would have afforded in every ocean and sea on the globe. The master spirit by which the ministry of Queen VICTORIA have been cowed and controlled is not to be found on this side of the Atlantic, (although it owns an elder sister here, equally sovereign in her own sphere,) but it is that English Democracy which is gradually becoming the sole source of rule in the British Queen's dominions.

The Eastern war has had this advantage, at least, that it has swept away more delusions scoured off more rust, and laid the foundations for more good, in the United Kingdom, than could have been accomplished in a century. It has been a fiery trial, in which the vincibility of England has been humiliatingly solved, thereby consuming much dross of national pride, while leaving behind the pure metal. War, more than anything else, always discovers how a nation is ruled. In despotisms, it displays the greatness or weakness of the monarch; in oligarchies, of the nobility; and in democracies, of the mass of the people. There was a period, once, in the history of England, when the national glory was identified with the name of its sovereign; in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, and [illegible] century of the present time, the nobility assumed by the aristocracy, and Great Britain grew in greatness and influence under their control. The late war has weighed these nickel rulers in the balance; they have been found deplorably wanting—and the burden of governing must henceforth devolve upon more worthy shoulders. The Queen's cipher, the aristocracy, for behind the demands of the age,—having "learned nothing and forgotten nothing"—no resource is left but for the people to take the reins into their own hands; and, if they do so, they will guide the affairs of the State well.

The present age demands Democratic governments—not Red Republicanism, nor necessarily American institutions; but a practical recognition of the fact that the energy, enlightenment, intelligence and industry of the time are in the people. The people are the sum of the present age, which feels and thinks for it. The living thought of the time no longer finds its expression in Emperors, Kings, Barons and Courts. Where these have not sunk into mere appendages, ornaments or incumbrances, it is because, as in the case of LOUIS NAPOLEON, he has adapted himself to the Democratic spirit of the age, by becoming the representative of the will of the nation, taking care never to transgress the boundary of popular feeling—and even he is but a hereditary President, liable, any day, to be summoned by revolution before the bar of the country, and impeached for disregarding national wishes or caprices. Nations that neglect to assert Democracy now, are as insane as those would formerly have been who should have rejected printing, the use of gunpowder, steam, or any other development of human genius or power. The sound sense of England has long since discovered this in theory, and hence the rapid increase of the influence of the middle and lower classes within the last twenty years; but it required emergencies like those that have lately risen to arouse the entire Kingdom to a feeling of shame and disgust that the Government of the country should be so far behind the people in real intelligence. "Men of business think it strange," said an eloquent English patriot, one year ago, "that while they are able to span England with gigantic undertakings, to construct railways, to tunnel through mountains, to send their ships to every part of the world—while they have made England what she is, and raised her to the high position she justly holds among other nations—those who pretend to govern them are not able to manage the affairs of the country." It is not now a rare sight in England to witness merchants, men of business, mechanics, agriculturists, who once never meddled with political details, leaving their wonted occupations to raise their united voices against the mismanagement of the country by titled hirelings. A new era has in fact dawned, and the peaceful aspect of the future depends upon its continuance, viz., that of popular rule in the dominions of the British Queen.

Fremont's Votes.

The Administration papers are industriously parading Col. FREMONT's votes in the Senate of the United States, upon various propositions that were there presented concerning Slavery. The first was upon a project that the United States Government should pay the Colonization Society for clothing, feeding and educating 750 Africans who had been rescued from a slaver. Col. FREMONT voted against it. The next was upon a motion to abolish Slavery in the District of Columbia:—and upon this proposition, presented twice, Col. FREMONT both times voted No.

The Administration press could not possibly render the Republican cause a better service than by parading these votes. They refute decisively its constant assertion, that the Republican Party is an Abolition Party,—and that Col. FREMONT is an Abolitionist. They prove conclusively the conservative and defensive character of the Republican movement. The abolition of Slavery in the District of Columbia is no part of the Republican platform. It is not a measure advocated by the Republican Party. Neither that, nor the payment of money out of the Federal Treasury to the Colonization Society, forms any part of the Republican creed. Col. FREMONT's record upon both these schemes is precisely what it should be.

The sole object of the Republican movement is to prevent the extension of Slavery into free territory and to dethrone it from its supremacy over the Federal Government. It is purely defensive and conservative. It menaces no vested interests,—proposes no interference with Slavery in States where it exists,—contemplates no action upon the subject any where which can justly be regarded as offensive, and seeks neither more nor less than to bring the Government back to the Constitutional principles and practices of its founders. Col. FREMONT has declared repeatedly and testified by his acts, his entire and cordial sympathy with these endeavors. We are glad that his opponents are proving to the country that he does not go beyond them. We trust the Buchanan and Fillmore presses of the Union will keep before their readers Col. FREMONT's votes in the Senate on the subjects referred to.

Squatter Sovereignty.

The Richmond Enquirer scornfully repels the notion that Squatter Sovereignty has been indorsed by the Democratic platform, or nominee. After speaking of Mr. BUCHANAN's antecedents, it says:

"These considerations (in which men of all parties in the general will concur) afford a clue to ascertain and determine his meaning and opinions as to Squatter Sovereignty. The Nebraska bill has been charged with ambiguity, yet it is hard to suspect the majority in Congress who enacted it with fraudulent intention. The changed phraseology employed on the same subject in the Cincinnati Platform, was adopted in order more explicitly and fully to repudiate the idea of Squatter Sovereignty. The subject had been fully discussed before the sitting of the Convention, and the entire South went into Convention, resolved that no room for doubt or cavil should be left, even to our enemies. To place other construction on the platform is to assert that a few knaves in Convention duped the whole South and most of the North.

But although the Convention satisfied its friends by resolutions on this subject, unanimously adopted in Convention, it did not stop the cavillings and affected doubts of its adversaries. No wonder Mr. BUCHANAN cannot satisfy men who [illegible] would be strange, wonderful, incredible, that Mr. BUCHANAN, knowing the [illegible] for the Convention, the Platform adopted, that the resolutions of the Cincinnati Convention were carefully framed in all respects to obviate such doubts, and that, therefore, upon the unanimous approbation of Southern as well as Northern members, should unanimously accept the candidate, platform and resolutions, as critical test with his own opinions; and on the ground of his policy if elected. Would it not be strange, wonderful, incredible that he should suddenly turn about round and his own words, silence Squatter Sovereignty to his bosom—and for what? To betray his reputation for truth, honesty, common sense and consistency, to offend a nation and lose an empire."

A New Portrait for President.

The Religious Press has always stood aloof from politics until now. But the Pulpit and the Press are uniting in the cause of Freedom and Fremont. The Independent of this week makes its formal announcement of its entering the campaign, as follows:

"The Independent will enter the field side by side with all who desire to do battle for truth, justice and humanity. With all the power God may give it, it will urge the Christian public to do with their might what their hands find to do to save our beloved country from the death-grasp of Slavery. It will advocate Freedom of Speech, Freedom of the Press, Free-Soil, Free Men, and ——— FREMONT for the next President. Those who think a religious paper should not thus freely join with the secular press in doing this extraordinary work, are informed that the matter has been calmly considered, the cost counted, and the conclusion deliberately and conscientiously arrived at that duty to God and man precludes a moment's hesitation as to the course which ought to be taken by this paper."

☞ A fine lithographic portrait of Hon. CHARLES SUMNER has just been published, by Mr. CHARLES H. BRAINARD, of Boston, whose engravings of illustrious Americans we have frequently had occasion to commend. The portrait of Senator SUMNER is one of the finest we have seen. Mr. BRAINARD will shortly publish two splendid portraits of FREMONT and DAYTON.

Amusements.

The amusements for the National Anniversary are not so numerous as they are on most years, but there are yet plenty of places open where a rational evening's entertainment can be had for a small price.

At NIBLO'S GARDEN the celebrated RAVELS continue to give a very superior pantomime and terpsichorean entertainment. These artists have been so long before the public, and are so widely known, that it is superfluous to sing their praises. Their performances are characterized by grace, force and elegance. Those who cannot endure the fatigue of listening, should go to NIBLO'S, where they are only expected to look. The "Contortist," "Pongo, or the Intelligent Ape," and Mr. HERRLESS on the tight rope, are on the bill for to-night. Commence at 8 o'clock.

The SUMMER GARDEN (Wallack's Theatre) is in the first week of its Summer season, and will be found a cool and delightful place, abounding with flowers, fountains, and all sorts of "decorums of the season." The bright particular star of the place is Miss AGNES ROBERTSON, a most piquante and delightful actress, and one who can dance and sing better than any other lady on the New-York boards, and who is, also, abundantly beautiful. Miss AGNES ROBERTSON is supported by a good Company, foremost among whom we may mention Mr. DION BOUCICAULT (the author and actor) and Mr. T. B. JOHNSTON. The pieces played at the Summer Garden are principally by the first-named gentleman, and range from the intense melodrama of the French school to the comedietta in which one actress plays many parts. Two performances to-day.

The BOWERY is essentially a people's theatre, and is also the largest theatrical establishment in the City. Mr. BROUGHAM has recently become the lessee, and has entered on the season with a very superior company, numbering many artists of well merited renown. The pieces played here are of a popular character, and interpreted with fun as works of the old master. Two performances to-day.

The NATIONAL THEATRE is also a people's theatre, and by careful management has become an exceedingly popular place of amusement. The patriotic drama finds a home here, and is always a large and spicy ingredient in the bill of the night. Two performances to-day.

BARNUM'S MUSEUM is a place filled with all sorts of curiosities, not the least interesting of which is a large and handsome Theatre. Performances take place here at all hours of the day and evening, and are of a varied character, ranging from the patriotic drama of the "New-York Patriots" (a prize drama) to light farces, such as "I Prefer the Wi- ow," &c. There is one good feature about the Museum—you are never too soon or too late, for the performances take place every hour.

KELLER'S EMPIRE HALL, (No. 596 Broadway,) is devoted to the exhibition of a very superior and artistic collection of male and female groupings, called tableaux vivants. Mr. KELLER has lately produced some fine pictures, to which he has added several of a patriotic character peculiarly interesting at this period. A good musical entertainment is also given. Commences at 8 o'clock.

BRUCE'S gigantic Illustration of the Russian War, (No. 589 Broadway,) is an art delineation of the recent struggle in the Crimea, and will be interesting to all who have followed the stirring events of that campaign.

The EGYPTIAN MUSEUM (Stuyvesant Institute) is, as its name indicates, a repository of Ancient Egyptian remains, and is not only interesting, but highly instructive—especially to Biblical students.

The DUSSELDORFF GALLERY and the BRYAN GALLERY contain fine collections of pictures, ancient and modern. The former is devoted exclusively to the productions of the Dusseldorff school, and will be found very full and perfect.

German Fremont and Dayton Club.

Very many German citizens, who have heretofore, almost in a mass, hung on the Democratic Party, have come over to the Republican cause. About two weeks since, the German citizens of the Seventeenth Ward—the largest German Ward in this City—organized themselves into a Republican Club, called the Fremont and Dayton Club. They held a meeting on Wednesday evening at Doelger's, No. 136 Third-street. More than 200 members were present, among whom were many well-known citizens of the Ward. FRITZ GOOS presided as Chairman, and Drs. HEUEL and FRONIUS acted as Secretaries.

The constitution of the Club was read, which is short, but includes every principle contained in the Republican Platform, as adopted in Philadelphia, and the last article requires that each member shall pledge himself in writing that he will support FREMONT and DAYTON. The close of the reading was followed by an immense applause, with cheers for the Republican nominees. The Chairman, in a few but eloquent remarks, reminded the members of their duty, and called their attention to the cause of the political difficulties now existing. Messrs. GOEBEL and BOEHR also addressed the meeting.

After the appointment of a Committee to confer with other German Clubs and Associations in reference to holding a grand German Ratification Meeting in the Tabernacle at an early day, they adjourned to meet again at the Henry Clay House on Monday evening next.

Republicans on Staten Island—The Hewes[illegible] on the Stump.

Richmond County has hitherto been Democratic, that party never, we believe, having been nearer a defeat than a tie. Republican clubs were inaugurated in the several districts of the County on Wednesday evening. Much as is known of the tendencies of the local politicians, all were surprised to see the men, many of them old, well-known and influential Democrats, who came forward to enroll themselves in the clubs. The meetings, as far as we have heard from them, were unprecedentedly large and full of enthusiasm. An old politician, who has worked in harness there for seventeen years, says he has never seen a canvass opened under such auspices. At Quarantine the meeting was very large and very spirited. At New-Brighton more were present than the hall, the largest there, could hold. Mr. PENDLETON, a well-known and wealthy citizen, presided, assisted by Mr. LUCIUS TUCKERMAN and others as Vice-Presidents. Mr. GEORGE WM. CURTIS, the well-known lecturer,

Buried his maiden sword in it speech admirable for

Wainwright, of this City, also did himself credit, and the old Whig Association

☞ A large meeting of Clergymen of all denominations was held at Public Hall, Jersey City, on Wednesday evening, at which Judge C. HOLCOMBE, lately appointed Minister to Naples, presided. Yesterday was a festival of the Democracy, and Judge HOLCOMBE, Postmaster KENNEDY, Ex-Governor PENNINGTON, Jr., Secretary of State, and other Democrats addressed the people. Over sixty thousand persons were assembled upon the soil of Jersey City.

Card from Hon. Mr. Stanton.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, July 5, 1856.

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times:

It is not often that we, of the Clergy-Army, are reported by the Public-press better than we deserve; but that has happened to me in the TIMES a few days since. In which I am represented as having given the persuade of a Winter's lecturing for the planting of trees in my native town. If it had been of a monthly lecturing, instead of a Winter's, it would have been true; but to considerable liberality as you ascribe to me, would have been an unreasonable fee for me, as missionary to my neighborhood as it does me for more than justice, and thanks for less—say, and our pleasant and shady village for less—I beg you will insert this note by way of correction, and oblige,

Yours, respectfully,
ORVILLE DEWEY.

Arrests at Hoover Island—Strong not Dead.

From the Detroit Bonnie Bulwer, June 28.

We learn the following facts from Mr. TRACY VAIL, who left Grand Bay on Wednesday last, in company with Sheriff GRAHAM and posse from Monroe, for the purpose of making arrests of some of the leading Mormons at Hoover Island, on a charge of robbery and other offenses which have rendered the Mormons a pest and terror to the inhabitants of the lake shore for seventy miles around, for a number of years past. The Mormons have especially harassed the fishermen by stealing their tackling, destroying their boats, burning their shanties, and setting them adrift on the lakes. The posse landed at Washington Island on Tuesday last, where a few joined them at the Sheriff's request, and they then proceeded and effected a landing at Golden Dock, on what is called the Holy Land, at 4 o'clock. They there made two arrests. One of the men, calling himself a prophet, drew a pistol, but was immediately arrested. He was a large, athletic man, with a countenance indicative of untamed and brutal passions. He showed much resistance. The two were hurried into the boat on short notice. One man whom the posse sought to arrest made good his escape by inconceivable fight. They then sailed for St. James, a harbor on the same island, 12 miles distant, where they landed at 6½ o'clock. They there made five arrests. The Mormons were taken entirely by surprise. The men, on discovering the boat very indistinctly along the shore in squads of twos and threes, some of whom were making fast the boat and others looking on, were without the least idea of taking a free ride to jail, as of a monthly lecturing, instead of a Winter's, it would have been true; but to considerable liberality as you ascribe to me, would have been an unreasonable fee for me, as missionary to my neighborhood as it does me for more than justice, and thanks for less—say, and our pleasant and shady village for less—I beg you will insert this note by way of correction, and oblige,

Fort Kearney Surrounded by Eight Hundred Cheyenne Indians.

From the Leavenworth Journal, June 28.

We have just received information from Fort Kearney of more Indian depredations, and a determination on the part of the Red men to kill all white friends. Capt. Sumner, at Cheyenne, is waiting the arrival of two companies in order to march to its assistance. Our readers will see that the Cheyenne braves will have to give way or bite the dust at once.

The Buffalo Express says: Though there will probably be an average crop of corn throughout the country, as stated in so many sections, along the lakes particularly, the plantations are not very forward, the wet weather and the pigeons having caused great loss of that. We hope that the season, though rather short at one end, will, for the sake of the corn crop, prove longer than usual at the other.

THE INDEPENDENT.
A RELIGIOUS FAMILY NEWSPAPER.
Circulation over 25,000!!!
AND RAPIDLY INCREASING.

That no other weekly religious newspaper ever met with the success of the Independent must now be universally admitted. It has been the aim of the proprietors without regard to expense, to make it rank in point of talent as high as the best Journal of similar character in the world; and to make it popular only so far as this could be done by treading boldly and firmly in the path of Christian duty—"not as pleasing men, but God."

A crisis has arrived when every Christian is called upon to ask, "Lord what will thou have me to do" in a conflict for principle and human rights as great as the world has ever seen. No voice can now be silent with impunity. If the religious press or Christian men now refuse either to speak or to act, the very stones will cry out for Heaven's merciful judgments, and we shall be left as a nation to fill up the measure of our iniquity.

Now is the time to prove who are the true lovers of Heroism, and to demonstrate who are the worthy descendants of the fathers of the Revolution, who were willing to lay down their lives to secure for this fair country no labor of freedom.

The Independent will enter the field side by side with all who desire to do battle for truth, justice, and humanity. With all the power God may give it, it will urge the Christian public to do with their might what their hands find to do to save our beloved country from the disgrace of Slavery. It will advocate, in every case, freedom of the press, free soil, free men, and ——— Fremont for the next President. Those who think a religious paper should not thus freely join with the secular press in doing this extraordinary work, are informed that the matter has been calmly and prayerfully considered, and the conclusion deliberately and conscientiously arrived at, that duty to God and man precludes a moment's hesitation as to the course which ought to be taken by this paper. Those who sympathize with it, of every name and party, and they are thousands, will add thereto by doing all they can to extend its circulation.

Those unacquainted with the Independent are informed that the paper will furnish articles weekly as follows:

1st. Religious Editorials, Selections, and Current Religious News.

2d. Editorials discussing the great Moral and Political Questions of the day.

3d. Communications from regular weekly contributors, embracing every variety of topic suited to a Christian family—to the living, not to the dead.

4th. Foreign and Domestic Correspondence.

5th. Reviews and Critical Articles on important topics, by the ablest living writers.

6th. An Article on Agriculture, embracing information from all parts of the country in relation to the condition of the crops.

7th. Review of the New-York Cattle and Produce market.

8th. Price Current, carefully corrected weekly.

9th. A Commercial and Financial Article, embracing topics suited especially to business life, and containing all the important news of the day, including a List of Failures from all parts of the country.

10th. Poetry, Religious Items, Reports of Public Meetings, Book Notices and Reviews, and other matters interesting to the reading public.

There are many inquiries what the weather will be to-morrow—some can tell to-morrow.

Those who are to be found at one time or another on the Battery of a pleasant afternoon, or in the early morning, will have noticed a large, handsome, and commodious building, with a flag-staff on the top, and a sign on the front, bearing the words "Battery Observatory." This is the building in which the Signal Service Bureau of the Chief Signal Officer of the Army has established its Observatory for the City of New-York. The Observatory is under the charge of Sergeant Myer, who has with him a corps of assistants, and is provided with all the instruments necessary for the purpose. The Observatory is connected with the Telegraph Office in Washington, and receives from there, every day, at 10 A. M., a telegraphic report of the weather at the principal points in the country, and the probabilities for the day. This report is received at the Observatory, and is then posted up in front of the building, where it can be seen by any one who may choose to look at it. The Observatory is also provided with a Thermometer, Barometer, Rain-gauge, Anemometer, and other instruments, by means of which the Sergeant in charge is able to make observations for himself, and to verify the reports received from Washington. The Observatory is open to visitors every day, from 10 A. M. to 3 P. M., and any one who chooses to call there can see for himself the instruments used, and learn how they are worked. The Observatory is also open in the evening, from 7 to 9 o'clock, when the weather for the next day is posted up. The Observatory is a very interesting place to visit, and we would recommend our readers who have a leisure hour to spend some time there. Sergeant Myer is very courteous to visitors, and will explain to them the use of the various instruments, and the manner in which the observations are made. The Observatory is a very useful institution, and we hope it will be liberally supported by the people of New-York.

Two of the unfortunate men—viz: Jas. Cosgrove and Joseph Mazarro—who were precipitated a distance of six stories by the breaking of a rope attached to the chain-pulley in Exeter-square, have died. Cosgrove died yesterday morning, and Mazarro this morning. The other two men employed on the same scaffold, and who were precipitated to the ground, escaped with slight injuries.
